2010-2011 Council Elections

Don Payne, GK

Brothers,

At the last meeting, it was decided that we would publish a black and white edition of the newsletter and mail it to all council members each month. A color edition will be published each quarter, copies of which will be placed in the church for all parishioners to view. There will also be a color edition on the LUMINARIA website each month. This should save money for the council and still provide our parish with an idea of what's happening with our council.

A number of items were discussed and passed at our June 12th meeting. It looks like we have more brothers attending the meetings lately. We want to encourage all of our brothers to attend our meetings and other events that we have scheduled throughout the year. Please participate and be a part of our council at Holy Rosary.

Fraternally,

Don Payne, GK

Past Events

OUR GOAL THIS YEAR IS TO HAVE TWO EVENTS EACH MONTH AT OUR PARISH. WE NEED YOUR HELP SO WE DON'T HAVE TO RELY ON THE SAME BROTHERS FOR EACH EVENT. PLEASE COME BY AND HELP US OUT.

HOT DOG AND TAMALES SALES In June, we held our hot dog and tamales sale on the second Sunday instead of our usual third Sunday date. This allowed our parish families to celebrate with their fathers on Father's Day.

It would appear, that each month we are raising more money for our council through the donations we receive for the hot dogs and the tamales that we offer our parishioners. This is our biggest fund-raising event, and we want to thank the brothers who continue to participate in its operation each month.

CORPORATE COMMUNION – We held a Corporate Communion Mass on June 20th with a dozen Sir Knights and a half a dozen 1st, 2nd, and 3rd degree Knights attending. Fr. Ian was presented a 4th Degree sword at the mass, as a gift from the council. Fr. Ian became a 4th Degree Knights on June 19th in Dickinson, Texas. There was a good turnout for the mass, but there is always room for more of our brothers to attend these functions.

CORPORATE COMMUNION CONT'D –We advertised this turn out in the newsletters, e-mails, and church bulletin; please read the councils and parishes media publications to stay informed. Please come and participate next time and show the support that our council has for our church.

2010-2011 ANNUAL BUDGET – Our annual budget was passed with total income and expenses totaling $9,240.

Future Events

PANCAKE BREAKFAST – We'll be serving pancakes and sausage again in the Community Center from 9 to 1 on July 11th. Like usual, we need all the help we can get. We expect a great turnout like last time.

MINISTRY FAIR – On September 12th, we're expecting to get all of the ministries in our parish to set up tables in the Community Center to discuss what they do in our parish and what it has to offer you. Come in and talk to them to see if you're interested in joining a ministry or two. The K of C will have a table or two there too. Help us recruit a new Knight or two.

OKTOBERFEST – We're going to have Oktoberfest as they do in Germany, in September instead of October as we have done in the past. We're planning on serving both German and U.S. beers this year on both Saturday evening, September 18th and Sunday, the 19th. We're going to be offering a lot of food to our parishioners, clergy, and visitors. Please place it on your calendar and come by to help cook and serve the food and beverages that we have to offer this year.

HEALTH FAIR & BLOOD DRIVE – Jim Eaton has gotten a number of doctors and health related organizations to be at our health fair on October 10th. We are also trying to get M.D. Anderson to send a team to Holy Rosary to collect some blood from the donors in our parish.

MARKET DAY & ST. NICHOLAS DAY – Both of these events are led by the Special Events Committee. We are always asked to help out.

Our Pilgrimage of Faith

by Supreme Knight Carl A. Anderson

At the end of May, I spoke to approximately 100,000 pilgrims at the basilica in Piekary Śląskie, a city in southern Poland. Speaking before men from every part of the country and from beyond its borders, I recognized that pilgrimage is an excellent metaphor for our own lives.

I was proud to have joined a large delegation of brother Knights from Poland and the United States as together we walked several miles from a local parish to the basilica.

Pilgrimage – in the traditional sense – occurs when a person travels to a place that holds special spiritual promise. During a pilgrimage, the pilgrim encounters days of journey and prayer completely oriented to increasing one's faith. In fact, a person is a pilgrim both during the journey and at the actual pilgrimage site, since the journey – often a difficult one – is part of the preparation for arriving at a holy place. The pilgrim gives witness along the way, as well as at his destination.

BENEDICT XVI "SURPRISED" BY BELGIAN RAIDS Laments "Deplorable Manner" of Police Searches

VATICAN CITY, JUNE 27, 2010 (Zenit.org).- Benedict XVI expressed his "surprise" upon hearing of the "deplorable manner" in which a series of raids were carried out by Belgian police on several church offices of the archdiocese of Malines-Brussels in search of secret documents regarding child sexual abuse.

The Pope expressed his concern in a letter of support sent today to Archbishop André-Joseph Léonard of Malines-Brussels, and president of Belgium's episcopal conference.

The police arrived at 10:30 Thursday morning to the headquarters of the Archdiocese of Malines-Brussels, where the bishops of Belgium were meeting for their monthly meeting. The authorities detained the bishops at the headquarters for nine hours as they searched the offices and the Cathedral of Malines.

At that time they drilled holes in the two graves of cardinals Jozef Ernest Van Roey and Leon Joseph Suenens, deceased archbishops of Malines-Brussels, located in the crypt of the cathedral, and then sent cameras down in search of hidden documents.

In addition to the headquarters of the archbishopric of Brussels, the authorities seized some 500 confidential files in Leuven, Belgium, from the office of Peter Adriaenssens, president of the commission for the treatment of sexual abuses. The home of former archbishop of Malines-Brussels, Cardinal Godfried Danneels, was also searched.

"In this sad moment," the Pontiff wrote, "I would like to express my particular nearness and solidarity with you, dear brother in the episcopate, and with all the bishops of the Church in Belgium, in the wake of the surprising and deplorable manner in which the searches were carried out in the Cathedral of Malines and the place where the Belgian episcopate was gathered in a plenary session that, among other things, was also to have treated matters connected with the abuse of minors by members of the clergy."

Benedict XVI underlined the need for both Church and civil authorities to deal with the sexual abuse crisis, but added that it should be done "with respect to their reciprocal specificity and autonomy."

"In this sense I desire that justice take its course," he concluded, "with a guarantee for the fundamental rights of persons and institutions, in respect to the victims, in recognition without prejudice of those who are committed to cooperate with it and in the rejection of all that casts a shadow on the noble work assigned to it."

As on a pilgrimage, our lives should be a journey toward a spiritual destination. If an eternity with Christ is our goal, then our journey should be oriented to that objective. In addition, our witness during the pilgrimage of life must be complete. Each moment in each aspect of our lives must be oriented toward our expectation of full unity with Christ in heaven.

In the 1980s, Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger – now Pope Benedict XVI – wrote, “Faith means entering into solidarity with salvation history, taking up its ‘already’ and on that basis working toward its ‘not yet.’”

He continued: “Faith is the appropriation of the past history, which finds itself transposed through love into the present and so becomes once more hope for the future. Salvation history is, therefore, not merely the past. It is also the present and the future as we continue on our pilgrimage till the Lord’s return.”

In other words, each day of our own spiritual journey and that of the Church should witness to the significance of Christ’s life and death for both our present lives and our future hope.

In my remarks to those gathered for the pilgrimage in Poland, I recalled that the Second Vatican Council called the lay faithful to seek the kingdom of God by engaging in temporal affairs and directing them according to God’s will. Lay people “are called by God so that they, led by the spirit of the Gospel, might contribute to the sanctification of the world, as from within like leaven, by fulfilling their own particular duties. Thus, especially by the witness of their life, resplendent in faith, hope and charity they must manifest Christ to others” (Christifideles Laici, 15; cf. Lumen Gentium, 31).

For Knights of Columbus, this means two things: First, we must witness to the love of Jesus Christ whether in private or in public, at home, at work or in the public square. This means witnessing to charity for all, to unity with all people (especially with our fellow Christians), and to a sense of fraternity with our brother Knights with whom we work together to better our communities and the world.

Second, as we enter “into solidarity” with salvation history, in the words of Pope Benedict, we should also take up Pope John Paul II’s challenge of solidarity – a communion among Catholics that is based upon a common tradition and a common heritage, and unity based in the sacraments of baptism and the Eucharist.

This solidarity ought to transcend political boundaries, cultural differences and economic interests. And in keeping with the Order’s first principle of charity, it should be based on the ancient and enduring wisdom of our faith – that we are our brother’s keeper.

If we can witness to our faith daily, especially by living out Christ’s commandment to love one another, then we will be living witnesses to Christ’s love for us along the way and will find ourselves at the end of life’s journey ready for our eternal destination.

Vivat Jesus!
